Royal Museums of Fine Arts of Belgium

1 Tickets & reservations

1. What are the prices and the discounts ?

You can find information about ticket prices here :

Fine Arts Museum

Prices vary according to the category you are in. Please note that free tickets are only available on presentation of a valid document

2. Where can I buy tickets?

You can buy tickets on site or at the ticket machines located at the entrance to the museum, or from our staff at the ticket desks located in the same area. However, the number of tickets available per time slot is limited. You can also buy tickets online via the Museums website. Please note that for school visits, you must contact our reservations department at least 1 month in advance (subject to availability):

Reservation@fine-arts-museum.be

The Museums work with a system of time slots to ensure the comfort of visitors and the safety of the works, this is why it is important to respect the time indicated on your ticket. A 30-minute margin is accepted. When you buy your tickets at the museum on busy days, you may have to wait for the available time slot to start your visit, especially at the Magritte Museum. So that you can visit the museums at a time that suits you, it is recommended to buy your tickets in advance.

3. Are audio guides available?

Audioguides can also be booked online and collected from the Friends of the Museums info desk on arrival. This desk is located in the main forum of the museum. You can reserve an audioguide online or hire one from the ticket office or kiosks. The audio guides are available in FR, EN, NL, IT, SP, and other languages.

4. I was unable to print my tickets. What should I do?

Simply display the tickets you have received by email on your smartphone.

5. I bought my ticket online but I haven't received a confirmation email. What should I do now?

The e-ticket will not be sent until payment has been received. This may take a few minutes, but if it takes longer , first check your junk mail and the accuracy of the e-mail address you have provided. After this check, if you still have not received an e-ticket, do not hesitate to contact our box office during the week:

ticketerie@fine-arts-museum.be

At weekends, our colleagues at the cash desk will always be able to help you if you come with proof of payment. Please let them know the date of the visit by showing the proof of payment.

6. How long is my ticket valid?

Tickets are only valid on the day mentioned during the opening hours of the RMFB. If you have bought your ticket in advance, you can change the date of your visit for compelling reasons (event, train problems, illness, etc.) by contacting the MRBAB reservations department at the following e-mail address :

ticketerie@fine-arts-museum.be

Please note: any change to the date of your visit will be effective upon receipt of a confirmation email.

Different tickets allow you to visit different parts of the permanent collections on the same day. You can only visit these sections on the day indicated on your ticket. You cannot spread your visit over several days. If you are unable to visit, no refunds will be made.

7. I've won/received a free ticket. When can I use it?

A ticket worth €0.00, that you received through a competition as a gift, can be used whenever you wish and gives free access to the museum or exhibition mentioned. Like standard tickets, free tickets are valid for one day only.

Don't be fooled by any date displayed in small print on the ticket: this is the date when the ticket was printed

8. Can I visit the museum with a Museum PASS?

Yes, we are now part of the museum pass (museumPASSmusées).

As a federal institution, our mission is to make our museums as accessible as possible to as many visitors as possible. For example, the museums are free for under-18s and our permanent collections are free of access every first Wednesday afternoon of the month.

Unfortunately, we are increasingly dependent on our own income. However, visitors who are specifically interested in the RMFAB and who wish to have unlimited access to the collections and temporary exhibitions can become members of the Friends of the Museum and find out about the various activities from which they can benefit on the Friends of the RMFAB website.

9. I'm a teacher. Can I visit the Museums for free?

All teachers holding a valid teacher's card have free access to our permanent collections (currently: Magritte Museum, Old Masters Museum, Meunier Museum). For temporary exhibitions, teachers receive a discount on their admission ticket. Free tickets for teachers are only available at the ticket office and not online.

Only teachers have free access to the museum's collections. If a companion is present, he or she must purchase a ticket online or at the ticket Museums office.

2. When will the Musée Fin-de-Siècle and the Musée Wiertz reopen?

Since 8 January 2024, the Musée Fin-de-Siècle has been closed to the public. This is because the Royal Museums of Fine Arts of Belgium are entering a new phase of works that will require a different use of spaces.

This transitional phase represents an opportunity to rethink the vision, values and missions of the Royal Museums of Fine Arts of Belgium. The objective of the Museums remains, of course, to ensure that the collections are as accessible as possible to the public.

Further information will be available in the coming months on the RMFAB website and through official channels.

As for the Wiertz Museum, it has been closed for works since 11/10/24.

3. What are the exceptional closing dates? Will the museum be open over the festive season?

The Museums close their doors on a few exceptional dates. In 2026, the Museums will be closed on the following dates: 01/01, 01/05, 01/11, 11/11 and 25/12.

On 24/12 and 31/12, the Museums close at 3pm and ticket sales end at 2pm.

However, exceptional closures may occur, details and times of which are communicated on the RMFAB website and official channels. We therefore recommend that you check our website before planning your visit.

4. How long a visit to the Museums takes ?

The length of your visit to our institution is entirely up to you! Perhaps the Magritte Museum will be more to your liking? Or the Old Masters Museum? Or both?

You are free to organise your visit as you wish. Museums close at 5pm. Visitors spend an average of 90 minutes in the museum. As long as you wish to see all the collections, allow half a day to a full day.

Our 2 smaller museum-workshops, the Wiertz Museum and Meunier Museum, take an average of 45 minutes to visit.

5. Do Happy Wednesdays offer full access to the Museums?

Every first Wednesday of the month, from 1pm, the RMFAB open the doors of their permanent collections to visitors free of charge.

At present, the Museums are the Magritte and Old Masters Museums.
Access to the Meunier and Wiertz Museums remains free of charge (open Tuesday to Friday, 10am to 12pm and 12.45pm to 5pm, weekends only for groups booked in advance with a museum guide). Please note that since 11/10/24, the Musée Wiertz has been temporarily closed for renovation.

Disabled parking spaces are available in front of the entrance on Rue de la Régence. Please note that certain models of electric wheelchair are not authorised due to the presence of batteries.

5. When will the renovation works start? How will the RMFAB be affected?

The Building Agency is planning a major phase of works, starting in 2026. It will involve renovating the two upper floors of exhibition rooms and the roof of the «Extension» building in rue du Musée (currently inaccessible to the public), as well as refurbishing the entrance hall in rue de la Régence.

Our teams are currently preparing for the actual phases of the renovation by transforming the spaces of the former Fin-de-Siècle Museum into storerooms and emptying the spaces in a wing that is not accessible to the public (the «Extensions»). In a few months' time, we will begin to move some of the works into this part.

At the same time, we are in the process of designing a new Museum circuit trail that will run from the 15th to the 21st century. It should be accessible by 2026. This is also the reason why we will not be organising any new exhibitions in-house at the moment: we need time to prepare this new route, reorganise certain areas, design the scenography and move the artworks.
